

ETI UPDATE: February 2024 – June 2024

To all those who work in education,

We at ETI are keen to share with you our exciting programme of inspection, evaluation and dissemination for the rest of this academic year. We thank all of the teachers, lecturers, leaders, parents/carers, children and young people who have engaged with us in what has been a busy and productive period in education.

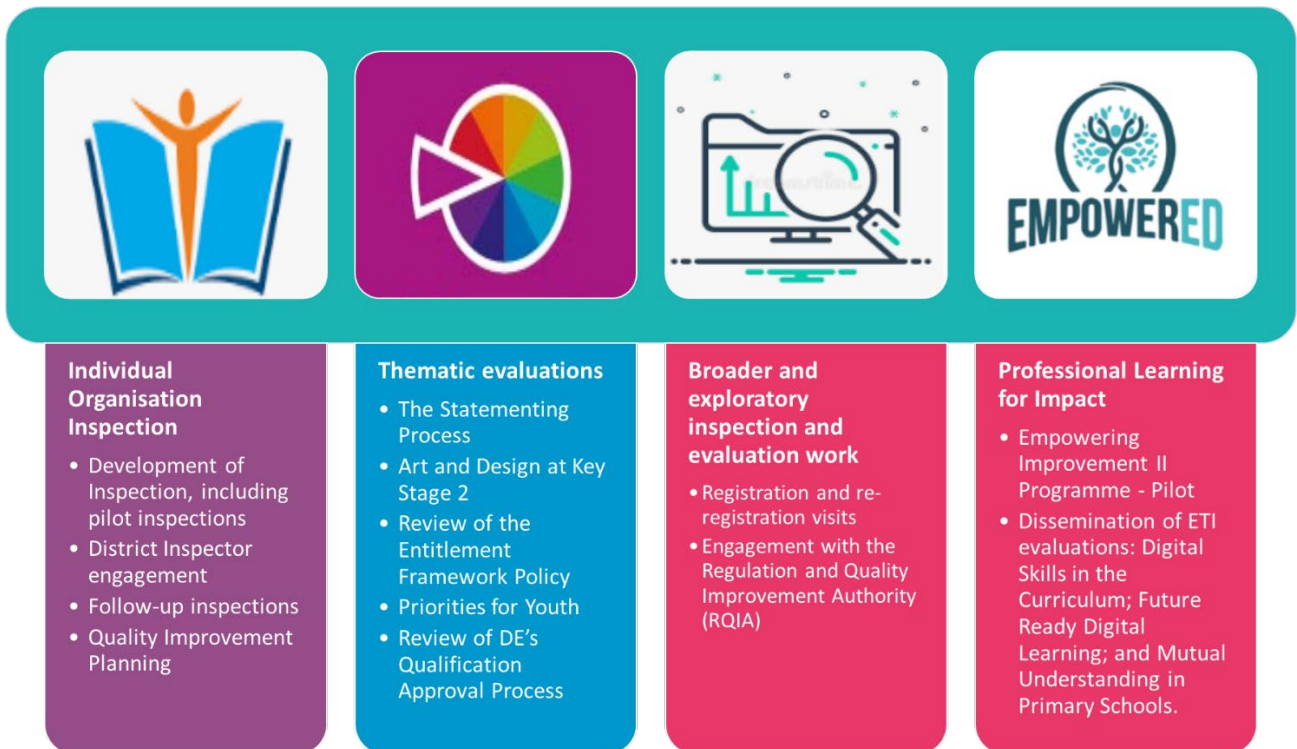

We thank those working in schools and early years settings who have supported us in our evaluation work on the Statementing Process and have facilitated our discussions with parents/carers and the children and young people. This work continues.

In December 2023, ETI published its evaluation of teacher professional learning to support learners with special educational needs. The evaluation findings will help inform future policy creation and implementation, as part of the Department of Education's End to End Review of Special Educational Needs.

ETI continues to align its Programme of Work to the four quadrants of the Quality Improvement Strategy to ensure it provides a balanced service which meets the needs of the education system, including all learners.

This strategy was devised in partnership with all stakeholders.
